

Assoc. Prof. Vaneja Velenik, MD, PhD

CURRICULUM VITAE

- Vaneja Velenik graduated at the Medical Faculty in Ljubljana in 1987.
- After few years working in general outpatient clinics (for students, senior citizens, children), she started with residency in the field of Oncology & Radiotherapy and which she successfully completed with Board Exam in 1997.
- Since then she is employed at the Institute of Oncology, and from 2010 to 2016 also at the Faculty of Medical University of Ljubljana.
- In 2007 she received PhD degree.
- In 2009 she was elected to Assistant Professor and in 2016 to Associated Professor at the Chair of Oncology.
- She has participated in many projects and programs, and was involved as a chief investigator for Slovenia in several national and international research trials.
- From 2010 to 2018 she was at the position of Head of Multidisciplinary Team for Gastrointestinal Cancers at the Institute of Oncology in Ljubljana.
- She is a national coordinator for specialization in Oncology & Radiotherapy at the Slovenian Medical Chamber, a Chairperson of the Expert College on Oncology at the Ministry of Health, a member of the SVIT Expert Committee Screening Program for Slovenia and a member of Evropacolon Slovenia Expert Committee.
- She is a reviewer of several national and international journals from the fields of oncology and radiotherapy.